

Prime-Age Labor Force Participation Rate: 83.3

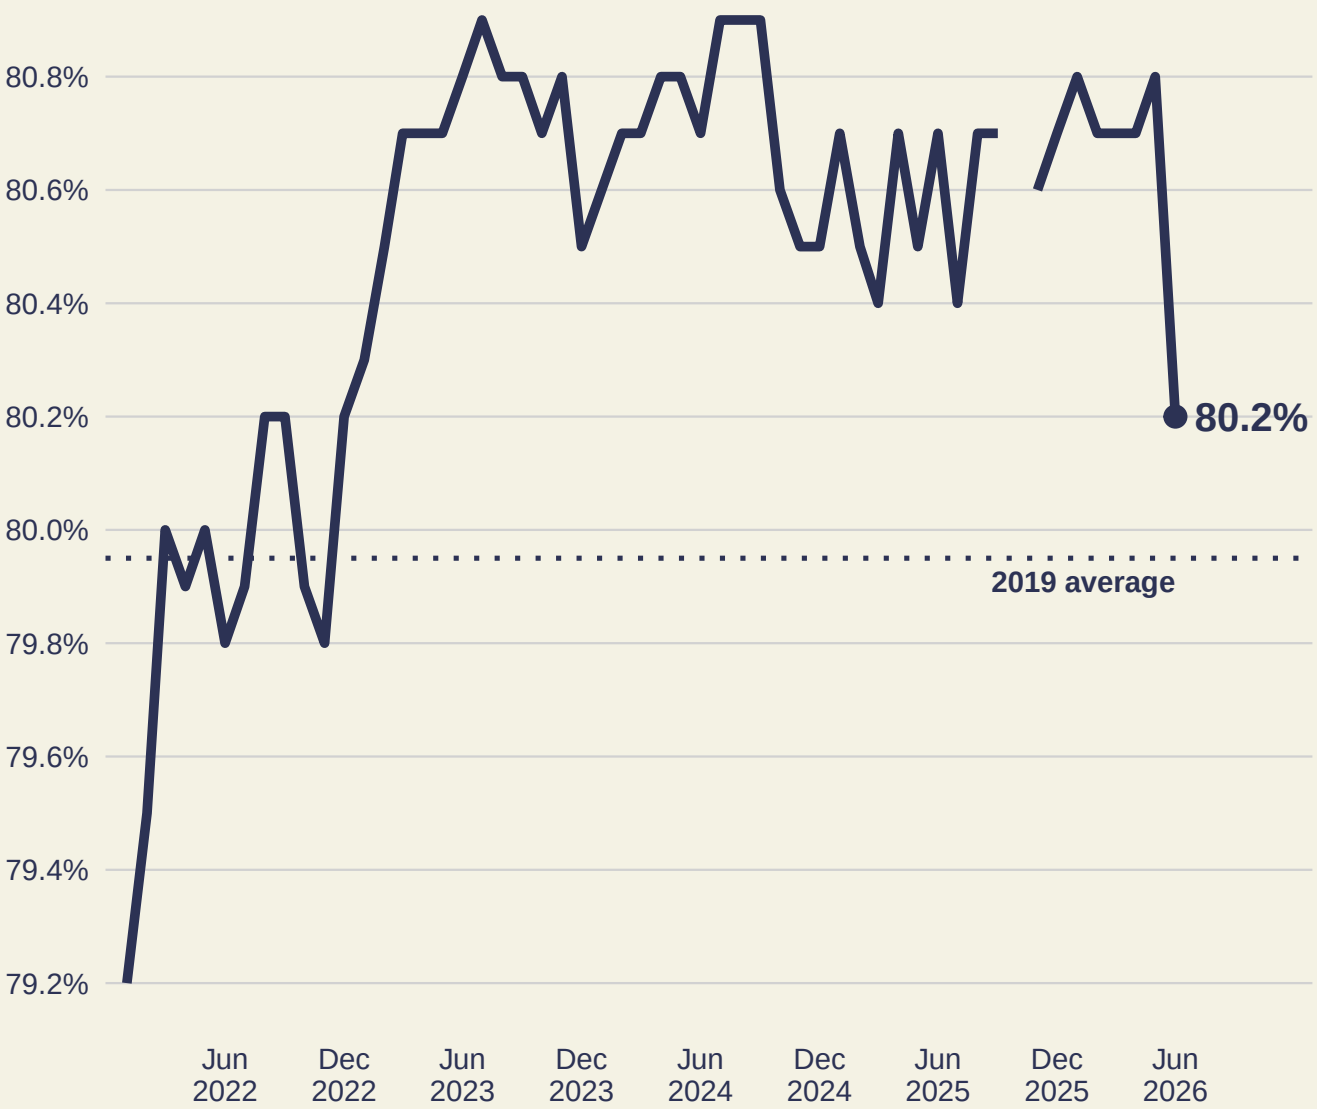

Down 0.6 pp from May 2026, and 0.8 pp above the 2019 average.

ted. Dotted line is the 2019 average. No observation for October 2025. Mike Konczal, Economic Security Project.

Prime-Age Employment–Population Ratio: 80.2

Down 0.6 pp from May 2026, and 0.3 pp above the 2019 average.

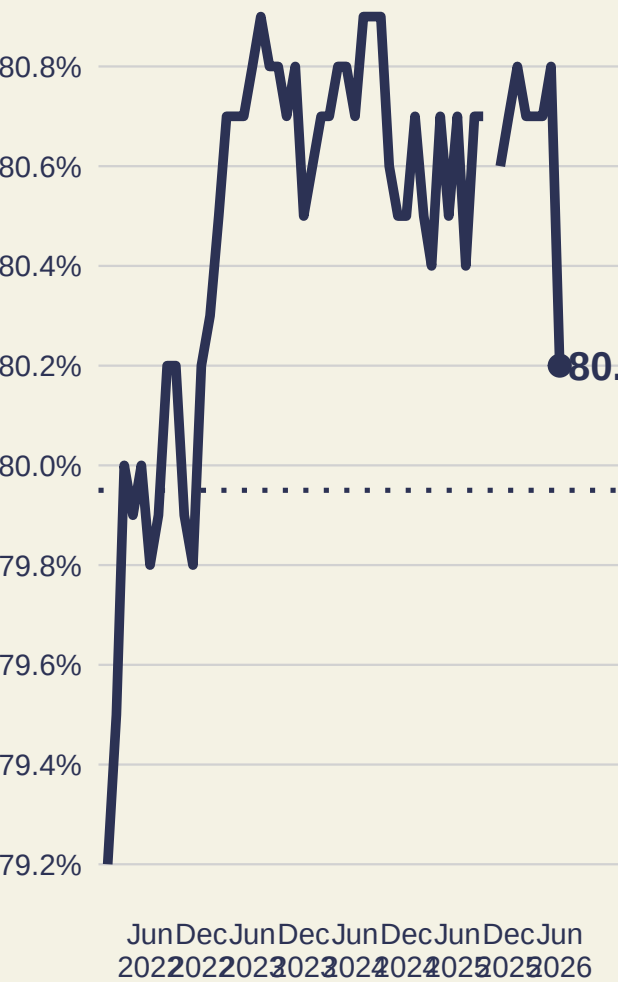

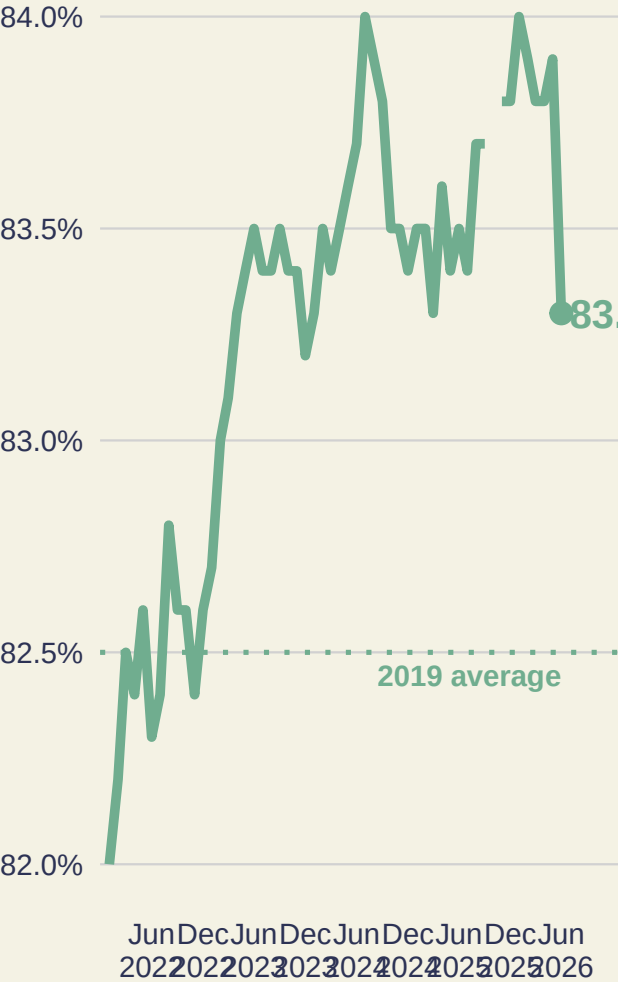

ted. Dotted line is the 2019 average. No observation for October 2025. Mike Konczal, Economic Security Project.

Prime-Age Participation and Employment Both

Ages 25–54. A falling participation rate can hold the unemployment rate down even if employment is falling.

Labor Force Participation Rate Employment–Population Ratio

Down 0.6 pp from May 2026, and 0.8 pp above the 2019 average. Down 0.6 pp from May 2026, and 0.3 pp above the 2019 average.

ed. Dotted line is the 2019 average. No observation for October 2025. Mike Konczal, Economic Security Project.